What is TITLE IX?

DATING VIOLENCE
If someone you are in a romantic/intimate relationship with pinches, kicks, slaps, hits, or shoves you, those are physical instances of dating violence.
If that person keeps you away from friends and family, shames you, calls you names, bullies or publicly embarrasses you on purpose, those are psychological and emotional examples of abuse.
And if that person forces or coerces you to engage in sexual activity when you’re unable to consent or don’t want to consent—that’s sexual abuse.
This can take place in person or via technology.

DOMESTIC VIOLENCE
Domestic violence is any felony or misdemeanor crime of violence committed by a current or former spouse of the victim, or by a person with whom the victim shares a child in common, or by a person who is cohabitating with or has cohabitated with the victim as a spouse, or by a person similarly situated to a spouse of the victim under the domestic or family violence laws of Florida, or by any other person against an adult or youth victim who is protected from that person’s acts under the domestic or family violence laws of Florida.

Any member of the College community found to have engaged in any form of Sexual Misconduct is subject to institutional discipline in addition to any penalties that may be imposed by a court of law.

SEXUAL OR GENDER-BASED HARASSMENT
Sexual or gender-based harassment can deny or limit a person’s ability to participate in or to receive benefits, services, or opportunities from the College’s programs or activities. Therefore, it is prohibited by Title IX.

What constitutes sexual or gender-based harassment? It is conduct that:
• Is unwelcome, and based on sex or gender,
• Is severe, pervasive, or persistent, and
• Is so objectively offensive that it unreasonably interferes with, denies or limits a person’s ability to participate in or benefit from the College’s educational, employment, social, or other related programs or activities.

Key Points:
• College employees, students, and non-employee third parties can commit these acts
• The conduct can be verbal, nonverbal, or physical
• People of all genders can be victims
• Can occur both on and off campus

CONSENT
Clearly communicating “yes” about sexual activity on your own terms. It can be limited to certain acts and revoked at any time. Consent must be voluntarily given by all parties to sexual activity.

SEXUAL EXPLOITATION
A form of Sexual Misconduct that occurs when a person takes advantage of the sexuality of another person without consent or in a manner that goes beyond the boundaries of consensual sexual activity without the knowledge of the other individual for any purpose, including sexual gratification, financial gain, personal benefit, or any other non-legitimate purpose.

STALKING
Stalking is when someone engages in a repetitive course of conduct directed at a specific person that causes that person to fear for his/her safety or the safety of others. It also causes the stalked person substantial emotional distress.
